Who can participate?

You may eligible if you are:

Application/Documentation Process

- Participants must be registered with the Apprenticeship Branch prior to receiving services from TES
- Participants are documented at the beginning of their training
- Service Canada is responsible for the EI application form and determines if the Apprenticeship client is eligible for EI benefits

Financial Support

- TES determines the amount of funding participants may receive. Eligible costs include:
 - Tuition – TES pays all tuition costs (less required participant contribution) for EI insured individuals in apprenticeship training
 - Living Allowance – Participants who are EI active will receive EI benefits during in class training. TES may pay living allowances to eligible participants who are not in receipt of EI Benefits.
 - Living Away from Home Allowances – If a participant must maintain a primary residence and had to pay for a secondary residence while on training, they may qualify for a weekly allowance
 - Commuting – Allowances may be paid to cover the cost of travel to the city/town limits. Travel within the city/town is not reimbursed
 - Travel – An allowance may be paid to cover the costs of travel between home and the location of training at the beginning and end of the course. The most practical and economical mode of travel may be considered.

- Childcare – A maximum allowance per child may be paid. A receipt may be required to confirm actual costs of childcare.
- Additional allowances may be available as supports for persons with disabilities
- Textbooks – Participants are required to purchase their own textbooks
